

Elkhart Facility

Bull Moose Tube entered the Hollow Structural Sections (HSS) market with the acquisition of the Elkhart operations in 1990. Elkhart's HSS is used in construction, transportation equipment and infrastructure, as well as many OEM applications. The Elkhart Division, with over 40 years of experience, produces HSS in squares ranging from 2" to 12" up to 5/8" wall with equivalent rectangles. In an effort to further enhance customer service, the Elkhart operations were consolidated during 1999 into one expanded location comprising 302,000 square feet. Elkhart can ship by truck and railcar loads are consolidated at its indoor rail siding.
